How to use this Guide

This guide is intended as a source of information for anyone affected by Violence Against Women, Domestic Abuse and Sexual Violence (VAWDASV), and for those working in Gwent who may come across someone who is affected by one of more of the abuse areas.

The directory contains details of services in each local authority area including how to contact social services departments. It then lists regional and national services. Within the National Services section, you will find a range of support services that often accompany VAWDASV i.e. drugs and alcohol or mental health.

For confidential support and information on domestic abuse, sexual violence and violence against women in Wales. (For victims and their families and professionals seeking to support); contact the Live Fear Free Helpline:
